

Our client, Brant Community Healthcare System (BCHS), is located in Brantford on the picturesque Grand River Valley area. With over 300 beds, 2,000 employees, 360 professional staff and 295 volunteers, and a $225M budget, BCHS provides a wide range of inpatient and outpatient services to over 130,000 residents in the region.

BCHS provides acute care services and specialty programs for all of Brantford and Brant County boasting stable, state-of-the-art programs that ensure a high level of patient-focused care. With approximately 12,850 admissions, 9,630 surgical cases, 58,700 outpatient visits, 58,800 emergency care visits, and 20,000 urgent care visits annually, the transformation of healthcare service delivery across Brantford continues with plans for an Emergency Department redevelopment well underway and the recent approval to build a new hospital.

In this newly created position, you will lead and advance clinical informatics to support the delivery of safe, high quality, accountable and efficient patient care through the effective application of information and information technologies that will drive the effective adoption of information and technology within the Professional Staff Community.

Join the BCHS Medical Leadership team as:

Chief Medical Information Officer

Reporting to the Chief of Staff & Vice President, Medical Affairs, the Chief Medical Information Officer will be certified, or eligible for certification, by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada and hold, or be eligible for, licensure with the College of Physician and Surgeons of Ontario. The ideal candidate will hold certification in Health Informatics, or other certification and/or education that is deemed to be equivalent.

BCHS offers a competitive compensation package for medical leaders including funding for professional development and administrative support.
